The WFSJ will print press cards every two to three months. The turnaround for applications from receipt of the application form, photograph, and payment may therefore be a number of weeks.

We will not assess any application that is not complete.

Terms and Conditions

1. Any press card issued by the WFSJ remains the property of the WFSJ and can be withdrawn at any time. 2. By applying for a WFSJ Press Card you certify that your particulars are correct and that you are happy for the collection, use, storage, and protection of the personal information supplied to meet the legal, statutory, and contractual obligations enabling us to provide you with your WFSJ Press Card.
3. The WFSJ reserves the right to carry out checks and to make enquiries with publications named as sources of either freelance, contract, or staff employment to determine whether the applicant is a bona fide member of the science journalist community.
4. The WFSJ will only approve the issue of press cards to those applicants it considers to be legitimate members of our member associations and practising science journalists, and whose professional activities requires them to identify themselves as such. The exact definition of a science journalist can be subjective and the WFSJ reserves the right to apply such definitions as the WFSJ deems appropriate.
5. Refused applications may be appealed in writing. Written appeals will be considered by the WFSJ Board of Directors. The Board's decision will be final.
6. All applications must be accompanied by the fees for the press card and postage (unless other arrangements have been made for forwarding the card). The fees will only be accepted in the form of electronic bank transfers or PayPal/TransferWise payments. The press card fee is non-refundable, even if the application is refused.
7. The WFSJ is committed to ensuring that press cards issued in its name are used properly, professionally, and for legitimate activities by our individual members. Holders of press cards whose use of that card brings the WFSJ and/or the principles of our community into disrepute will have their card withdrawn.
8. Applications will be treated in confidence and the application forms will only be available to members of the WFSJ Board of Directors.
9. The press card will be sent to the applicant directly or via their member association (note the WFSJ has no direct control over the timescale).
